PREFACE.

TWENTY-nine years ago, when just at the threshold of my business life, I passed a winter under the roof of my grandfather Barzaleel Streeter. I was a boy of eighteen, he an old gentleman of nearly eighty years.

A scanty salary, combined with a strong desire to live within it, kept me within doors those long evenings. I read much. I frequently fell to questioning my grandparent about his early life. It was plain, but it interested me. By degrees I drew from him a fairly complete record of his father's and grandfather's families in regard to which his memory was very good. I found myself hungering to go beyond these, but for the moment was barred by the natural limitations of his recollection.

But the seed was sown; I discovered in the libraries the accumulated volumes of the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register" and, with the material and information I there gathered, I was soon immersed in a pursuit which broadened as I advanced and gradually developed into intense fascination.

Beginning with but small expectations in the line of family record, I followed on because it was a pleasure to do so, and each discovery of new records added fuel to the flame. A new departure in my business life a few years later took me widely over the western and southern states and my genealogy was never forgotten. Still later I settled again permanently in the east where I have been happily placed for working upon my pet subject. While my labor in this line has always been greatly intermittent, because of close business application and the usual waywardness of this kind of correspondence, yet I have steadily progressed toward my goal and now seem to have arrived at a point where it is practically useless to defer printing. I wish the reader to understand that this work is not at all professional. It makes no pretensions as a history. The gathering of the records and fitting them together, while it has taken time, patience and persistence, has been a fascinating pursuit, and I have enjoyed it more than I can ever tell; but beyond getting the material together to perfect the lineage in all its American branches, and possibly to connect reliably with our undoubted English parentage, I have never had any intention. I am well aware that copious notes and more fullness of detail would have added greatly to the interest of a work like this, and I regret that I have been unable to do more in that line, but I could not undertake that labor; with all my other responsibilities it was simply impossible. I am thankful to have been spared to present to my family and to all persons interested what is here printed. Some one after me has the field for embellishment. Here, at least, are preserved the hard facts so far as I have been able to gather them.

It is to be regretted that these records are not more perfect than they are, especially where the incompleteness is due to the indifference of those who are most nearly affected. I have certainly done everything in my power to make them as complete as possible and hope to be pardoned for such gaps and mistakes as may be discovered.

I owe much to those who have helped me to gather the records here printed. Mr. John S. Barry of Barryville, Iowa, was an early and earnest correspondent. Mrs. Clara Kittrell of Attleboro, Mass., was an enthusiastic early helper. Mr. Daniel S. Pond of the Streator branch presented me with voluminous records which he had been at much pains to put together. Of course such work as this would be impossible without coöperative help from all sides and while I wish to thank, unstintedly, all who have aided me yet it is only fair to remark that my interest in completing and preserving these records was also theirs, and I have felt that I had almost a right to demand of them some labor in the cause. I have discovered that genealogies are frequently full of errors of date, sometimes very annoyingly so. I hope no serious errors will be found in this, yet it is hardly supposable that any work will entirely escape this misfortune. I have been extremely careful to avoid them, and where they are discovered I would esteem it a kind favor to be personally notified, so that I can make the correction in my own copy and perhaps some day cure them in a new edition. As these records are scattered throughout the different branches and families of our name, the missing and incomplete records will be noted.

It will give me the greatest pleasure to receive corrections or additional records from any quarter. If I have anything wrong I want to know it. Let no one think this work was undertaken for profit. I was never quite foolish enough to look for money in this line. Some persons with whom I have corresponded have entertained considerable suspicion that a legacy of some kind was underneath my efforts. Let me assure all parties that my researches have developed a very consistent absence of wealth all along the line.

Neither rank, large means, nor professional life seems to have gilded the name to any great extent. Most emphatically we belong to the common people and I have no regrets to express.

A word as to a cherished tradition that has followed the generations in more than one of the great branches of the family.

Three Streeter brothers are said to have emigrated to this country. My grandfather had it that they were French. I have proved that all the branches that come out of New England run straight back to Steeven and Ursula Streeter of Charlestown, Mass., 1644. He was the father of three sons (Stephen, Samuel and John) of unknown age, possibly born in England, and these sons may have been the starting point of this long-kept tradition of two hundred and fifty years, but bear in mind that two of these sons left no known descendants behind them. As we all trace to the father Steeven, so we all trace to his eldest son Stephen.[1]

Curiously enough the son Stephen left three sons, (Samuel, John and Joseph) all of whom were fruitful, and at this point commence the three great divisions of the name.

At this time 1706-17 the three parent families from which we have all descended, were clustered in and about the towns of Attleboro and Wrentham, Mass., and Cumberland, R. I., all adjoining towns. So much for the tradition of the three brothers.

[1]It is known that he had another son, Stephen, born 20 June, 1667, but trace of him is lost immediately.

The first great family disturbance or migration seems to have been to the neighborhood of Chesterfield and Concord, N. H., about the year 1770; though one branch, Samuel's (my own) had earlier removed to Framingham, Mass., and other fragments to the towns of Sturbridge, Charlton, Greenwich, Uxbridge, Oxford, Douglass and Hopkinton.

These records have been practically complete for a good many years and the arrangement for the printer about two years. Little details only were wanting, yet I have almost despaired of finding the time and mood for completion.

A year ago I found an opportunity to make further search of records in England and postponed printing in hope of being able to add to the interest of this book.

With these remarks, by way of introduction and explanation, I present this work to the tender mercies of the reader.

May 1, 1895. MILFORD B. STREETER.

EXPLANATION.

STEPHEN STREETER[1] is the first generation. His descendants who bear the family name stand in numerical order on the left margin from himself to No. 1834.

Small figures at the end of a name, thus, "STEPHEN,[2]" indicate the generation to which the individual belongs.

Figures in parenthesis after a name, forming the subject and standing at the head of a distinct notice, thus ENOCH[4] (49), denote the numerical order in which he stands, and will be found by turning back to that number.

All children in the family record with figures in parenthesis following their names, thus "122 JOSEPH[5] (311)," are subjects of future treatment and will be found forward at No. 311 in the left marginal column.

The pedigree of each individual forming the head of a distinct family is traced directly through the several generations to the ancestral head, thus "1611 SAMUEL L.[8] (914), son of James[7] (Moses,[6] Stephen,[5] Stephen,[4] Samuel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1])."

From page 86 to 209 where a number occurs in the smaller type, one hundred should be added. Thus on page 86, reference to 1295, should be to 1395.

THE STREETERS OF GOUDHERST, KENT,

WITH NOTES ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE HISTORY OF THE FAMILY IN ENGLAND.

BY EBEN PUTNAM.

During a portion of the year 1894, I was engaged upon genealogical work in England and, in connection with other work, I attempted to establish beyond doubt the locality whence came Stephen Streeter the emigrant.

How far I was successful in this the reader may judge from a perusal of the following pages. At first I was baffled in my attempts to locate any leading clew which would give me a starting point for my researches.

Mr. Streeter, the compiler of the valuable history of the family, had in former years hastily examined the ground and was of the opinion, with which I agreed, that the ancestors of the family came from southeastern England. The comparatively few wills on file at Somerset House did not afford abundant suggestions, nor did they reveal any connected pedigree.

My attention was at first directed to a family settled at Bramshott, in Hampshire, as likely to have supplied emigrants for America. More about this family will be discovered by the reader later in these pages. It was a worthy and more or less influential family of dissenters, principally Friends, one of whom suffered martyrdom. Moreover this Bramshott family was allied with the Sylvesters of Berkshire, and Shelter Island, N. E. It was while preparing to visit the sources of information pertaining to the families of Bramshott and vicinity that, in examining one of the manuscripts in the British Museum relating to Kent, my eye caught the name Stephen Streeter mentioned in the will, proved in 1630, of John Pope of Hawkherst. As from that vicinity came many of the contemporaries of Stephen Streeter, the thought immediately flashed upon me "this may be the sale of the lands which our Stephen possessed prior to his departure for America." At any rate it was the first substantial clew I had found, although I had searched the probate records in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury and for the diocese of Rochester and the Feet of Fines and had examined to some extent the Lay Subsidies.

My time was limited. I went to Cranbrook, Hawkherst and Goudherst, neighboring parishes in Kent, and was rewarded by finding unmistakable proofs that there, for several centuries, had been settled a family of Streeters and which later investigations have led me to consider the "home family." A testy and inconsiderate rector, with little love for genealogy and still less for Americans, prevented an examination of the Hawkherst registers, a difficulty and omission afterward in part supplied from another source. I wish, however, to state in this connection, that, of a score or more of ecclesiastical custodians of records it was my good fortune and pleasure to meet in the course of my investigations, the case above mentioned was the only one in which not only every facility was afforded me to pursue my quest but many personal kindnesses and courtesies advanced. The usually cultivated gentlemen holding the livings are more or less interested in the history of the present and past inhabitants of their parishes.

It was at Goudherst that I finally located the probable home of Stephen Streeter prior to his migration to New England.

Careful investigation of the records at Canterbury, at Cranbook, and of the Lay Subsidies for the Lathe of Scray and neighboring parts, failed to reveal the presence of any Stephen Streeter who might have been the emigrant other than he of Goudherst. Investigations set on foot to find another Stephen, in any of the localities where the name was found at that date, failed.

The facts then which lead me to believe that Stephen Streeter of Goudherst was identical with him of New England are principally as follows: similarity of social position, locality, association and connection with families who are known to have sent emigrants to this country, the fact that Cranbrook and vicinity was a centre of Presbyterian and Independent religious life, occupation, age, and the repetition of the same Christian names in much the same order.

As yet no absolute proof has been found, by which to identify the two men. The finding of a relative's will mentioning Stephen as in New England, or the baptism of his children coinciding with the known ages of the children he is supposed to have brought to America—these facts, which are necessary, in view of the lack of knowledge among his descendants as to his former home, are wanting to prove absolutely the identity of the two.

Cranbrook is situated about forty miles southeast of London in the extreme southern central part of Kent. It is about eighteen miles due north of Hastings in Sussex, which is the nearest seaport and the place famous as that of debarkation of William the Norman. Hawkherst is about four miles south of Cranbrook and is the southernmost point of the triangle formed by Hawkherst, Cranbrook, and Lamberherst. A small part of the parish is in Sussex. Hawkherst was attached to the manor of Wye and was a part of the possessions of the Abbey of Battel in Sussex founded by William. The church at Hawkherst was founded by the abbot of Battel in the reign of Edward III. Some four miles north of Hawkherst and about three miles west of Cranbrook is Goudherst and two miles farther to the west on the same road is Lamberherst forming the westernmost point of the triangle. Goudherst is situated on a hill which commands a fine view of the surrounding country. Alighting at Goudherst station a steep climb of a mile or more brings one to the church at the head of the street and at the top of the hill. About the ancient edifice are clustered the memorials of the dead, but of comparatively recent date. Contrary to expectation it is a rare occurrence to find in England gravestones of as early date as the earlier ones in America. Inside the churches there are the monuments of the chief families of the place and often of great antiquity, but such memorials are entirely distinct from the exterior gravestones. There are no memorials of the Streeters in the church or burial ground at Goudherst, although at the beginning of the century there were standing a number of stones erected to the members of the Stringer family. The church is dedicated to St. Mary and is picturesque. Formerly it had a very large and tall spire which on the 23d of August, 1637, was struck by lightning and so weakened by that and the resultant fire that it was taken down. In those days the tower contained five bells which were melted by the lightning.

At this time and earlier these parishes had a much larger population than at present. Kilburne in his "Survey of the county of Kent," published in 1659, states that Hawkherst was "very populous, and one of the greatest parishes in the county (not having a town therein). Only four parishes in the county, viz.: Maidstone, Cranbrook, Feversham and Goudherst, all of which have towns in them, were found to have more communicants than this (which within twenty years past had at least 1400 communicants), but it hath very many poor therein." The parish of Goudherst is eight miles long and four broad and is continuous hill and dale, with extremely fertile lands. The many small streams which have their rise in the parish all go to form the river Teis. In the fifteenth and following century and "within memory there were many clothiers here, but there are none now" (1790). The same may be said of Cranbrook which is, up hill and down dale across country, but a half hour's brisk walk from Goudherst. Hasted, in his history of Kent, says of the clothing business, "it was exercised by persons who possessed most of the landed property in the Weald inasmuch that almost all of the eminent families of these parts, now of large estate, some ennobled by titles, are sprung from and owe their fortunes to ancestors who have used this great staple manufacture." Among those families he mentions Austens, Courthopes, Plumers, Stringers. They were usually called, from their dress, the "Gray Coats of Kent," and were a body so numerous and united as to control the county elections.

That the people of Kent prided themselves upon their birth and generally considered themselves superior to the people of the remaining counties is well known. Land in that county descended in a different manner than in the rest of England and according to the manner of gavelkind.[1] Each son received an equal portion and in case of failure of male issue the daughters inherited in equal shares, which tended to level the distinctions prevailing in feudal countries. A Kentish man then and to-day feels his importance; the yeomanry and better class of farmers are true Yankees and in speech and appearance could not be distinguished from the New England farmer.

From Kent came the greater portion of the early emigrants to New England. The counties of Essex, Norfolk and Suffolk, with adjoining parts, were also very largely represented. The city of London peopled

[1] Gavelkind is a peculiar system of tenure prevailing chiefly in the country of Kent. The chief peculiarities of the custom are the following. (1). A tenant can aliene his lands by feoffment at fifteen years of age. (2). There is no escheat on attainder for felony. (3). Generally the tenant could always dispose of his land by will. (4). In case of intestacy the estate descends not to the eldest son but to all the sons in equal shares. "Every son is as great a gentleman as the eldest son is." Gravelkind is no doubt correctly traced to the Saxon land-law prevailing before the Conquest. It is supposed to be an concession extorted from the Conqueror by the superior bravery of the men of Kent.

largely by people from the home counties also contributed her quota.

From Cranbrook and vicinity came the families of Sheaffe, Brattle, Willard, Cushman, Ruck, Foster, Stow, Bigg, White, Bridgdon, Beale, Hosmer, and many others. Indeed the registers of Cranbrook present as many familiar names to a New Englander as those of Salem, Mass.

The derivation of the name Streeter is probably similar to that of Bridger, Churcher or Churchman, Brooker, Feilder, etc., that is, given to a resident of some cottage or place under or near by a bridge, church, brook, field. Thus Streeter would indicate that the individual so named lived on or near the street. The most common form of that class, however, would be and is Street from Atte street which is the early form of that name.

The comparative rarity of the name Streeter and its being confined in early times to Kent and Sussex suggests a common origin of those bearing the name in direct contrast to Street which occurs in several counties, chiefly in Devonshire, Hampshire, Somerset and Sussex. The German form is Streda, while the Danish is Straeter. In the 10th year of Edward III (1336–7) Flemings were encouraged to settle in England and teach the industry of cloth making and it may be that they introduced the form of the name Streeter or it may be a survival of the Danish invasions, although surnames were not adopted until the 11th and 12th centuries, and then were not permanent, and were confined to the landholders. The commoner sort of people did not settle down to hereditary surnames till a much later date.

The earliest mention of the name I have found is in Additional MSS. (British Museum) relating to Kent, 33892, fo. 63, where mention is made of Richard Streetere as a witness to a grant made by Richard Rysden of Goudherst to Galfred Aleyn of the same of a messuage in the denne of Turyoden, in Goudherst. This was in 5th Henry VI (1426). Twenty-four years later the men of Kent rose in their might under the leadership of Jack Cade to obtain redress of many wrongs. This uprising was in the nature of an organized protest and among the people were gentlemen and yeomen. The army advanced to London and some fighting was indulged in. It was the third of July that Cade and his followers entered London, and a day later a compromise was effected and pardons issued to the participants. So many are the pardons and in such order that it is evident that muster rolls were kept.

Says a writer in the Proceedings of the Kent Archæological Society, in several hundreds the constable regularly summoned as if legally his men, and many parishes, particularly Marden, Smarden, Hawkherst, Northfleet, Boughton, Malherbe and Pluckley, furnished as many men as could be found to-day capable of bearing arms. In the Patent Rolls of 28th Henry VI will be found many of the pardons, which are grouped by parishes. There are twenty names of Goudherst men; some may have been out in the first uprising, and apparently the leaders were the Culpepyrs of that parish, an important and wealthy family in later years and then of consequence. Following the name of John Culpepyr, gentleman, but without designation as to rank, are twelve names among them that of Richard Streter. No other Streter occurs on the rolls and in the churchwardens' accounts of Hawkherst beginning in 1515 the name does not occur. Not till the time of Henry VIII do I again find any record of the name and this time in the Valor Ecclesiasticus, and in connection with Lamberherst, being probably that Richard Streeter who died in 1524 whose will is appended.

The length of time between 1426 and 1524 suggests the possibility that the latter Richard may have been a son or grandson of the first Richard. However, the meagre gleanings at hand show nothing further and it may with justice be supposed that the family became settled and permanently known as Streeters at the end of the thirteenth or beginning of the fourteenth century, and from that time to this have been in some way connected with Goudherst. There may have been another family by the name in Sussex at about that same time but I am inclined to believe them offshoots from Goudherst. Prior to this date, 1400, the persons holding the name, if so designated, were not of enough importance to come under the eye of the inquisitor or other officials or to take a leading part in affairs sufficiently to get their names upon record; and of those early records only parts have come down to us, and of those not all are accessible or readily deciphered.

From the somewhat scanty material at hand I have prepared the accompanying genealogical table and have added in the following pages abstracts from various records.

Some attempt has been made to show the general standing of the family during the seventeenth century. At this present time while the name is not common in England and comparatively rare in Kent, at least amongst the land-owning class, there are a number of families in London and the southern counties, some of prominence in business and others of more or less social distinction.

NOTES TO ILLUSTRATE THE PEDIGREE.

Richard Streetere of Goudhurst, co. Kent. A witness to a grant made by Richard Rysden of Goudhurst to Galfred Aleyn of the same place, of a messuage in the denne of Turyoden, in Goudhurst. Dated 5th Hen. VI (1426). He was therefore born as early as 1400, probably earlier, and it is possible he was the father of Richard Streter of Goudhurst (yeoman?), living in 1450 when he took part in the rising in Kent under the leadership of Jack Cade. If this Richard is not identical with the above he was probably born as early as, if not earlier than, 1425.

Richard Streter, will dated 1524; prob. 1 Oct., 1524. buried in churchyard at St. Stephen; son John "the house I bought of Thomas Bell," wife Juliane to have said house during lifetime or until marriage; son Thomas; to John Creswell; to the three orders of Friars at Canterbury "church at Lannehurst;" to Thomas Streter "if he be preste" (i. e. priest); if son Thomas die s. p. his house to remain to my son John, then to my dau. Katherine and her children. Son John Creswell, executor. Arch. Cant. 16, Quire 5.

The identification of Lannehurst with Lamberhurst however is not clear to my mind, yet the variation in the spelling is not greater than many instances that have come to my knowledge. I do not find "Lannehurst" mentioned in early or modern topographical works on Kent.

THOMAS STRETER of Gouderst, 26 Dec., 1537; prov. 8 May, 1538; to be buried in churchyard at Gowderst. To seven poor folk 7d; to mother; to cousin Alya Tayler; residue to wife Agnes whom exectr'x.

Real estate disposed of as follows: to son Robert, messuage called Sokes—all I lately bought (with shop adjoining) of Mr. Person, also piece of land called Grubland. Son Edward; son Gabriel; son Wm.; son (Steven[1]) £40 to be paid in three years. Grubland is charged with the legacies to sons.

Wit.: Wm. Menge, clerk, Rarf Sundall, Roger Doutton, et al. Rochester, fo. 148, v. 10—1542–1547.

Robert Streeter, who is mentioned in the above will, sold Grubland in Lamberhurst, 1547.

The Valor Ecclesiasticus of Henry VIII, 1509–1547, gives John Streteer as holding lands of the Ecclesiastical College of Lyngfild, in the parish of Lamberhurst, and Thomas Streter in Kingston of the Monastery of "Teoxburie."

JOHN STREETER of Lamberhurst in 1558, 1561, and 1573 in which year he was elected "headborough."

JOHN STREATER, of Gowthurst, 20 July, 31st Eliz. (1589); prov. 11 Nov., 1589; to poor of parish; daus. Faith & Hester, when 23 or married; son Arthur, a debt due from Goddard Crottenden of Burcaashe? now in the hands of his widow Joane; son Steven Streater, all such tools, etc., pertaining to my occupation and all such leather and ware ————

[1] This name is undoubtedly Steven although very illegible. Both Mr. Waters and myself read it Steven.

Son Samuel. Sister Margery and her children. Mary Streater, dau. of my son Arthur. Edward and Susan, children of my son Steven, vi d. apiece when seven years old. To William Butcher, son of my dau. Dorothy, when seven. To dau. Faith, to be delivered to her by her aunt Elizb. Hendley. Wife Margery to have lands and tenaments in G. during life or marriage; then to my son Steven, he to pay to my two sons John and Peter Streater, £40 at their age of thirty years.

Wit: Thomas Russell, Thomas Love.

Arch. Cant. 47, fo. 283.

From this will it is evident that John Streater was a worker in leather. His son Steven presumably followed his father's trade, and Steven of New England was a cordwainer, i. e., shoemaker.

Peter Streator of Bexley, Kent, Glover, 18 Sept., 1623; prob. 5 Nov., 1647, by Mary Medhurst; to Rebecca and Margery Cheeseman, daus. of David C., £5 each; to Thos. Snode, £10; to Wm. Bostocke and his wife Katherine, £10; to godson Peter B. To Thos. Bostocke, my wife's godson; godson Peter Medhurst, £5 and all my working implements; rest of my dau. Katherine Bostocke's children, 12s each; apprentice Thomas Addams; residue to loving wife Margaret Streater and to Mary Meadhurst, wife of James, whom extrx. P. C. C. Fines, 231.

Margaret Streater, widow, of Bexley, 3 Oct., 1647; prov. 1 Nov., 1647; late husband Peter; daus. Mary Meadhurst and Mary Snode, wife of Thomas Snode.

Fines, 227.

Arthur Streater, "the writer," witness to will of Henry Sennock of Lamberhurst, Kent.—11 Apr., 40th Eliz^{b}. Proved 9 Apr., 1598. Rochester, v. 19, Part I.

The will of this Arthur Streater is given below.

Arthur Streater of Lamberhurst, Kent, 28 Feb., 1604; 24 May, 1605. Young son Wm. Streater and four daus. Mary, Frances, Ellen and Eliz^b^. Streater, all profit and commodity arising from wood called Winbridge in Lamberhurst (i. e. 30 A.) to be felled and sold when it has 16 years growth and to be paid to my said children as they come to the age of 21; but as Mary and Frances will be of age before that time, etc., etc.; wife Grace; to Walter Streater and his heirs my lands and tenaments in Lamberhurst called Winbridge (i. e. 40 A.) after wife Grace's decease. Authority to sell land on east side of road from Bryham to Lindreege Cross, 40 A. called Stuxfield, as his land is now mortgaged. Said son Walter when 21; brother Stephen Streater sole exec. Kinsman Walter Henley, and Edw. Keyley, overseers. Entreats Mr. Amhurst to correct and amend his will.

Wit.: John Giles, Thos. Garthford.

Rochester, fo. 8, v. 19, 2d Part.

The following deeds relate to Walter, son of the Arthur above.

In British Museum, Seals No. 30,551, 30,172, 30,173, are to be seen an indenture bond and power of attorney of Walter Streator of Cranbrook, Kent, clothier. These are abstracted below. All are sealed by Walter Streater with a fleur-de-lis.

30,172. Deed for 12 A. of land called Sonde Croft or Sonde Land, in Hellingeleigh, Sussex, from Walter Streater (and wife Anne), of Cranbrook, Kent, clothier, to Sir John Pelham of Loughton, Sussex, Bart, lately in possession of John Studdoll and Richard Duffordred. The seal of Anne looks like a Katherine wheel. £114. 2 Nov., 1659.

30,551, bond for same, same date, £228.

30,173, power of attorney of Walter Streater to friends Henry Mascall of East Heathly, Sussex, gent., and John Newington of do., yeo., to give seizin of 3 parcels of meadow described in above, to Sir John Pelham. Same date.

Wit.: Wm. Bartholomew, Nathaniel Streattear and John Ealy.

The Lay Subsidy lists (assessments for taxes) of 3d and 4th Charles I (1627–8), 12th Charles I (1636), and 16th Charles I (1640), for Goudhurst all give the name of John Streater assessed for lands. The name does not occur in the lists for Cranbrook or Hawkhurst.

Pope, his son, messuage in Cranbrooke; three daus. Eliz^{b}, Catherine, and Joane.

Com. Cant. Harl. 32,662.

NOTE. The Pope family has been, and still is, an extensive and influential family about Cranbrook.

The mention of George and Stephen Streeter as above would seem to suggest close relationship. There was a George in Goudhurst in this time and a plausible suggestion is that George and Stephen were sons of Stephen who died in 1616, and came between Edward and Susan and Symon.

Stephen Streeter who came to New England was born probably as early as 1600, more likely ten years earlier.

A valued correspondent, W. P. Haskett Smith, Esq., of Goudhurst, writes me "Our Streeters are not, as far as I know, connected with those of Sussex, e. g., John Streeter of Lewes, who had a son Aaron, born about 1610, or John Streeter of Itchersfield near Horsham who charged an annuity upon a farm called Fulford's and died before 17 May, 1624 (vide deed of that date) [see Charter to Thomas Streeter on page xxx—E. P.].

There were other Streeters in the neighborhood of Canterbury, e. g., William Streeter, who by will dated 28 Sept., 1571, gave £60 to a loan fund for small traders (Emily Streeter is his executrix).

George Streeter married 1602; William Streeter married 1613, both of Canterbury [see extracts from Canterbury registers printed below]; John Streeter of Fordwich, yeoman, born 1594, married in 1624, and Christopher Streeter of Fordwich, publicly whipped in 1664 (Arch. Cantiana, vol. xviii, 101); Thomas Streeter of Faversham, tailor 1634 and 1642, and other names could be supplied, but I see no reason for regarding these as connected in any way with the Streeters of Goudhurst or the places near it.

The name is found in all the parishes round about here and the different registers mention many." I have used the items sent by Mr. Haskett Smith in conjunction with my own gleanings from the vicinity of Goudhurst.

The Bramshott family belonged to the Society of Friends. The annexed wills and vital records give more or less information about this family.

An old work published in London in 1738 and entitled "Sufferings of the Quakers, 1660–1666," throws some light upon the entries in the Friends' Registers.[1]

"In 1658, Elizabeth Streater of Bramshott, as she was going to meeting, met a priest on the highway, and speaking to him by way of reproof, he was offended and procured her commitment to Winchester Gaol, and at the next sessions she was fined £5, and for non-payment detained twenty-one weeks, having then a sucking child at home, which was not permitted to be brought to her. At length she was released by order of a committee of Parliament. She was again prosecuted for non-payment of tythes and committed to gaol in 1665.

Her husband, Henry Streater, in 1660, had £42 worth of goods (three mares and a cow) distrained on a demand of £4, for non-payment of tythes, and on the 13th, 11th mo., 1660, he, with several others was seized at a meeting in Alton, forcibly dragged through the streets to an inn, and guarded there three days and nights by soldiers; then put into a wagon and carried to Alresford, where they were kept at an inn all night and not suffered to have any beds, and next morning conveyed to Winchester and put into the marshal's custody who had them before some justices, who committed them to prison for refusing the oaths. In another place it is stated that the seizure was made at his brother's house in Alton at a meeting, and that he died in gaol at Winchester 1st, 2d mo., 1661."

This family is of particular interest on account of its connection with New England people, i. e., the Sylvesters so Harl. Charters, 111 H. 36. Indenture between John Streater, James Flesher & Henry Twyford in behalf of Richard and Henry Atkins, patentees in printing law books, and parties who agree to print all law books solely for them. 20 Mar., 1669.

From Domestic State Papers.

1649–50, 22 March. Pass issued for Lt. Jno. Streater of Capt. Evans' company, in Col. Henry Cromwell's regiment in Clonmel, to march with forty horse to Milford Haven for Ireland.

1650. Pay warrant to Lt. John Streater.

1653, Sept. 12. John Streater committed to gaol for publishing seditious pamphlets. He was still a prisoner in Jan., 1654.

1655–6, Feb. 29. Petition of John Streater for an interest in printing the Bible, in respect to disbursements made by him.

1656, April 23. Petition of John Streater and others concerned in printing the Bible. They have seen the Protector's order that the copy of the Bible should be entered in the Register book of the Stationers' company. The copy is not the right of Barker but of Bill, being in Barker's hands in trust for Bill.

The order will lay us open to suits; beg a hearing and time for perfecting impressions and selling stock before entering the bible to any party or persons.

1656, Nov. 13. Petition of John Streater to Council. States he has been sued for putting foreigners at work; some of whom have been soldiers, served the Commonwealth and have the right to exercise any trade.

1659, July 30. Captain Streater to have charge of the artillery train.

1660, April 2. Col. John Streater's allowance. Ordnance department.

1661, Nov. 6. Note on Col. John Streeter's discharge from the gate-house. Nov. 19, reference to his petition for payment of over £500 due for printing several papers for the King's benefit.

1662–3. Again imprisoned, evidently for printing something disagreeable to the church, for he is released upon promise to the Bishop of London, not to print any works of sedition, heresy, or treason, and upon his promise not to pry into affairs of state.

1666. John Streater gave information against Samuel Speed who printed a book entitled "Power and Practice of Court Leets" scandalous to government, etc.

Nothing more is found of John Streater in the Domestic State Papers from which the above references are taken, but in 1688, under date of 23d Oct., William Penn writes to Lord Dartmouth, "This person was Colonel Streeter's son; he served and was wounded at Tangiers. A sober and brave young man." Presumably Col. John Streater entered the Parliamentary service, served with some distinction and at the end of the Commonwealth was of sufficient use and consequence to be entrusted with control of artillery, and presumably in his capacity as printer was able to perform some favors for the party seeking King Charles' restoration.

A printed "Letter to Fleetwood" is in the Boston public library, bearing his mark as author and printer, and dated 166—. Evidently he was a character of some importance. Perhaps Robert Streater, who in 1662, petitioned as "his Majesty's painter" for permit to erect a house and workshop in Longacre, his building to be an ornament, etc., and who in 1663 had a grant to the office, upon its surrender by Sir Robert Howard, of sergeant-painter, was a near connection.

In 1667, James Streater was commissioned lieutenant in one of the regiments to be raised that year. Assigned to Lt. Col. Wood's regiment. He may be the son of Colonel Streeter, to whom Penn refers twenty years later.

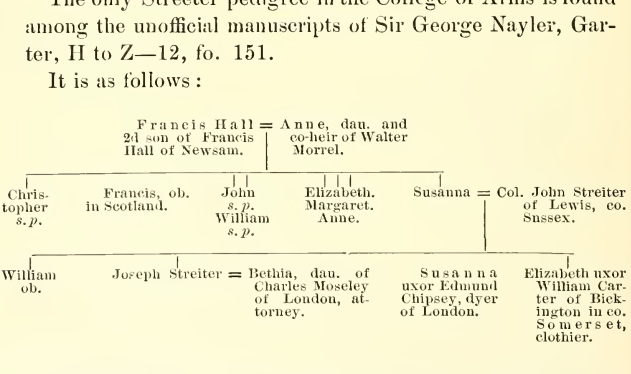
A Thomas Streater of Chatham, in 1662, petitions for relief having been employed in the late wars by Major Boswell to carry packets between England and France, and His Majesty's commission to Colchester at the time of the siege, for which he promised him favor when at Calais, at the time he put the major in his man's white apparel.

Benjamin Streater, living in Tothill street, near the sign of the Fleece, Westminster, gentleman, testified that he knew Capt. Benj. Mason (accused of delinquency) and had known him ever since he came to be a soldier in the Lord General Essex's life guard, which was in 1642, this deponent being then one of the same life guard and a fellow soldier with him, and clerk of the troop. Deposition dated 1650.

State Papers.

The only Streeter pedigree in the College of Arms is found among the unofficial manuscripts of Sir George Nayler, Garter, H to Z—12, fo. 151.

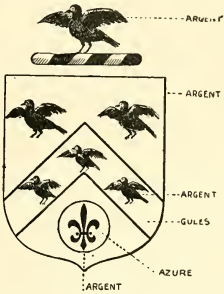
It is as follows:



This pedigree is undated, but probably of the time of Charles I. Very likely the Col. John Streiter of the above pedigree is identical with Col. John Streeter, the printer, mentioned in the extracts given from Domestic State Papers.

There is no grant or confirmation of arms to Streeter, but additional MSS. 5533, fo. 161, British Museum, an unofficial copy of the Visitation of Surrey in 1662, and entitled Pedigrees and Arms of London families, has a sketch of a coat of arms credited to Streeter of Lewisham, in Surrey. These arms may have been granted, but cancelled for non-payment of fees, perhaps intended as a confirmation of arms assumed during Cromwell's time. These arms are reproduced below.

It will be seen that there is a family resemblance between these and the arms of Stringer[1] of Goudherst.



Burke in his General Armory gives the heraldic bearings of "Streeter of Kent," as Crest. An eagle, wings expanded argent, beaked and legged gules.

Arms. Argent, on a chevron gules: between three hurts, each charged with a fleur de lys of the field, three birds, wings expanded, of the same.

This latter description resembles the coat of arms shown above in some particulars and as Burke probably obtained his description from some tombstone, county history or family papers, it is likely that the two had a common origin.

No evidence of their early use has been found and they were probably assumed by some member of the family raised to affluence, without regard to the authorities of the College of Arms.

[1] Arms of Stringer, granted, 3 Nov., 1664, to Stephen Stringer of Goudhurst, Esq., to John Stringer of Ashford, and Thomas Stringer, Per chevron or and sable, in cheif two eagles displayed of the second, in a base a fleur de lis of the first.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. Stephen Streeter,[1] first of Gloucester, Mass., 1642, stands as the patriarchal head of this American branch of the Streeter family under consideration. The date of his arrival in New England is at present unknown; but probably, about 1639–40. He is certainly not mentioned among the lists of those passengers, many of whom came to this country during those periods of imigration, 1630–1637. Mr. Babson in his History of Gloucester says "he may have preceded the settlers of 1642, as Mr. Blynman's grant includes a lot primarily given to him. He had a house here, but did not remain in town long after its permanent settlement." In 1644, we find him at Charlestown as a householder, and is undoubtedly the person intended by the clerk, but called in the record Steeven Streete, who took the Freeman's oath May 29th of that year. March 21, 1652, he and wife Ursula, united with the Church, being but two and one-half months before he made his will.

When in London, England, in the summer of 1886, I visited that great storehouse of Probate records, Somerset House. In searching amongst the records of by-gone centuries, I discovered a large number of Probate documents in both the Streete and Streeter names, running through the 16th and 17th centuries. I examined many of those bearing the Streeter name without finding a very probable connection with the Stephen Streeter of the new world. Last year however, 1894, I obtained the services of Mr. Eben Putnam, a well known genealogist, who, following up my beginnings eventually found in an unlooked for manner, evidences which seem to conclusively show that Stephen Streeter came from Goudherst, Kent. The reader is referred to the article by Mr. Putnam describing the English home of the family. The name Streeter may be of the same common origin as Streete, or more likely as Mr. Putnam thinks, a survival of the Danish occupation.

The names Streeter and Streete was common in the south of England, particularly in the counties of Kent and Surrey. Many Streeters live in those same localities to-day. The name Streete is much more common and widely distributed.

Mr. Streeter made his will June 10th, 1652; but the date of its probate is not given. His decease quite probably occurred soon after. The following is a full copy of his will, as found on record at the Probate office in Cambridge, Mass.:

"The last will and Testament of Steeven Streeter, Shoemaker, Inhabitant in Charlstowne, deceased, made the . . . . . Whereas God's Goodness in a good composure of mynde knowing God calls mee to order and settell, as well my outward as inward estate, I doe therfore in pursuance of that duty declare the inclinations of my spirit therein in each perticular to bee as doe in the following declaration thereof expresse.

As stated in the will, Mr. Streeter was a shoemaker. His wife was Ursula ——. She is said to have been the daughter of Henry Adams of Braintree, the emigrant ancestor of that family, who came to New England about 1630. But around this statement there has been thrown a shadow of doubt. Mr. Adams made his will 1646, which was probated June 8, 1647, in which he states that his "sons Peter and John and daughter Ursula shall have the ground in the Neck . . during the terme I was to enjoy it, until it returne into the towne's hands againe from whom I had it." Speaking of his wife, "if she marry, then my will is y^t Joseph, Edward and my daughter Ursula, should enjoy all my ground in the field that lyeth in the way to Waymouth ferry, and my house Lott, with all the houses and fruit trees," &c., "at the death or marriage of my wife; Provided, they and their mother shall pay to my son Samuel that wch is due to him for the ground I bought of him." . . .

It will readily be seen from the above, that Ursula Adams was evidently living at her father's home in 1646, no allusion whatever being made to her married condition. Mr. Streeter died 1652, leaving six living children, and one then unborn.

After Mr. Streeter's decease, his widow married (2), Oct. 13, 1656 or 7, in Charlestown, Samuel Hosier of Watertown, who died July 29, 1665. He was admitted freeman May 18, 1631. In his will dated July 28, proved Oct. 3, 1665, he gives all his estate, except £10, to his wife, and after her decease to go to Stephen Payne, and his children ; 40s. to the pastor; 40s. to the church ; to his brother's son in England; to his sister and Mrs. Prout, and to wife's Ursula's children. Inventory of his estate £435: 12s. 6d.

Ursula married (3), about 1666, William Robinson of Dorchester, the emigrant, whose name first appears on the church rolls in Dorchester, 1636 ; made freeman May 18, 1642, and the following year became member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

Feb. 25, 1651, he bought of John Phillips of Boston for £150, an estate in Dorchester "near unto Naponsett River," with the house, barns, &c., with several other parcels of land and meadow.

Oct. 7, 1664, he sold for £96 to Timothy Tileston of Dorchester, a "little house and ten acres of land on Tide-mill Creeke, and half a corn water-mill standing on the tide in the creeke, commonly called Salt Creeke or Brooke, near Captain's Neck ;" which mill it is said he had bought of Edward Breck, and was standing late as 1857, known as Tileston's mill.

The date of Mr. Robinson's birth is approximately ascertained from the birth of his first child to be about 1615. He died July 6, 1668 ; and as related by Rev. John Elliot of Roxbury in his diary, he was "drawn through by ye cogwheel of his mill and was torn in pieces and slain."

In his will, he gives "Loving wife Ursula," his dwelling house, orchard, meadow, hempyard, that part of the new barn and old barn, I now enjoy, stable, cow yard, one-half the pasture, 7 acres salt marsh by the river, and half the fresh meadow by Thomas Trott's, and all the planting ground near his house being 11 acres, all of which she shall enjoy as long as she continues his widow ; after which he provides for his son Increase, eldest son Samuel, daughters Prudence Bridge, Waiting Penniman, and his wife's (Ursula) daughter Mary Streeter, to which latter he gives £4. This Mary was born after her father's decease.

Mr. Robinson's will was endorsed as follows:—

"This Will of our late Deare ffather William Robinson written on the other side with his owne hand which wee Acknowledge wee doe all agree & Consent to bee allowed & Recorded & made good as wittnes our hands: this: 31: July: 1668.

Ursula her X mark Robinson.
Samuel Robinson.
Increase Robinson.
John Bridge,
Joseph Penniman.

For her fourth and last husband, Ursula married, July 15, 1673, Griffin Crafts of Roxbury. His former wife was Alice, and they were among the earliest members of Dr. Elliot's church. According to said church records she died March 26, 1673 aged 73. It appears that he outlived Ursula, and married a third wife Dorcas———, leaving her a widow in 1690.

The Boston records show the following children by Griffin and Alice Crafts:

i. John, b. July, 1630.
ii. Mary, b. Aug. 10, 1632.
iii. Abigail, b. Mar. 28, 1634.
iv. Samuel, b. Oct. 2, 1637.

June 27, 1671, Ursula, then widow of William Robinson, sold to Daniel Andrews of Salem, Mass., for £90, a dwelling house and 130 acres of land in Watertown. [Bond's Hist. Watertown.]

Children of Stephen and Ursula Streeter:

2. Stephen,[2] (9), b. ——; d. ——, 1689.
3. Sarah,[2] under 18 in 1652, when her father's will was made.
4. Samuel,[2] living June 18, 1669, when he acknowledged payment of the fourth part of the value of the house and lands left by his father Stephen. Savage and Wyman, mention him as being of Concord, Mass.; and Barry assumes to have found him and wife Mary there with ch., Judah, b. 1666; Eleazer, b. 1668; John, d. 1667; John, b. 1671; but a subsequent search revealed the name to be Stratton, instead of Streeter.
5. John,[2] was a soldier in King Philip's war, 1675, where all further trace of him ends. He received as pay £3: 6s. 9d.
6. Hannah,[2] b. Nov. 10, 1644.
7. Rececca.[2]
8. Mary,[2] b. after her father's decease, about 1652.

SECOND GENERATION.

9. STEPHEN[2] (2), son of Stephen,[1] died in Cambridge, Mass., 1689. He had lived in Charlestown, Watertown, with wife Deborah in 1667, Muddy River, now (Brookline), and Cambridge. He inherited from his father one-half the Charlestown homestead, which he and wife Deborah, then resident at Muddy River, sell in 1679. In 1681, they sell land in Charlestown, formerly his father's, to Richard Russell. Nothing more is known of his personal history, nor any will or administration, are found on record. His wife was Deborah ——, who was admitted to the church in full communion at Cambridge, July 13, 1701; and after her husband's decease, she married, Aug. 10, 1704, Samuel Sears of Wrentham. Wyman mistakes when he says she died, April 7, 1689; it was the daughter Deborah.

Children:

10. STEPHEN,[3] b. June 20, 1667, Watertown. No further trace.
11. SARAH,[3] b. Oct. 2, 1669, in Watertown.
12. SAMUEL,[3] (18), b. probably at Muddy River.
13. JOHN,[3] (28), b. probably at Muddy River.
14. REBECCA,[3] b. Sept. 3, 1683, Cambridge.
15. DEBORAH,[3] b. Sept. 25, 1685; d. April 7, 1689, Cambridge.
16. JOSEPH,[3] (44), b. Sept. 18, 1687; d. Oct. 22, 1736.
17. BENJAMIN,[3] b. Nov. 25, 1689; d. Apr. 23, 1690.

THIRD GENERATION.

18. SAMUEL,[3] (12), son of Stephen[2] (Stephen[1]), born probably at Muddy River; died at Framingham ——1752. He had probably removed from Cambridge to Attleboro in the meantime, about 1706, where the town records show purchases to have been made Jan. 15, 1706–7; May 19, 1713; Jan. 19, 1716–17; and sold land there April 1, 1713. In Aug. 30, 1717, he bought land from J. Willard in Sudbury; later, the records show him to be at Framingham.

He made his will April 23, 1751, which was probated Sept. 16, following, viz:—

John[3] (13), son of Stephen[2] (Stephen[1]), born probably at Muddy River (Brookline), Mass.; removed from Cambridge to Attleboro, and settled about 1706, in that part of the town known as Cumberland, Mass., where he died April 5, 1729; administration on the estate granted widow Judith, May 5, 1729. The records of Attleboro show that he bought land there April 30, 1705, April 30, 1706, and Feb. 26, 1714–15. The Cambridge First Church records show that Dec. 29, 1700, he owned the Covenant, and was a member there. May 5, 1729, his widow was appointed administratrix of his estate; and subsequently, March 8, 1737–8, an appraisement was made and filed, representing a total value of £420; but as the estate admitted of only one of the sons without prejudice to the rest, it was agreed that the whole estate be settled upon John, the eldest son, he having purchased of his mother, the widow, her dower or thirds, and the other children which are of age, with the minors by their guardians, having also prayed for the same, and having nominated and appointed Noah Carpenter, Samuel Tyler and Jeremiah Ingraham, to make a just apprisement of the whole estate, the following division was made among the heirs, viz.:

To sons James, Josiah, and Jeremiah, £23 : 6 : 8, each, in Bills of Credit of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay or in silver money in one year after said date.

To daughters Mary Ward, Abigail, Rachel, Sarah, Amey, and Hannah, the same in amount as their brothers; said John paying to the respective persons the respective sums Interest at 6 per cent. for every year and part of a year until their respective times of payment are ended.

"And whereas the Widow's Dower or Thirds of the Real Estate according to the appraisement of the whole is £140 which said sum is not divisable Among the Children Untill after the Death of the said Widdow, altho Purchased by the said John and by this Decree ordered To be to him said John, his heirs and assigns forever, yet under the same Proviso and Conditions, viz:—

"Provided the said John Streeter his heirs," &c. "Pay to the other 10 Children of the said John Streeter, deceased, or their Legall Representatives, their Respective Shears of said 140 Pounds one year after the death of ye said widdow with Interest for the same at six per cent. for the said year, viz."

To sons James, Josiah, Jeremiah & Isaiah £11 13s 4d. each.

To daughters Mary Ward, Abigail, Rachel, Sarah, Amey and Hannah, the like sum.

May 16, 1738.

[N. B. The name of Isaiah is omitted in the original records of the first division.].

Mr. Streeter married (1), April 9, 1700, at Cambridge, Mary Whitcomb, who died in Attleboro, Feb. 5, 1715–16; married (2), Aug. 1, 1716, in Rehoboth, Judith Shores or Shares, of Wrentham, and after her husband's decease, she was published May 20, 1738, to Edward Day of Attleboro.

Children, by Mary (first three in Cambridge):

29. HANNAH,[4] b. Dec. 26, 1700.
30. MARY,[4] b. Mar. 29, 1702; m. ——Ward.
31. JOHN[4] (78), b. April 6, 1704; d. 1757.

36. JOSIAH[4] (97*a*), b. Mar. 3, 1712–13.
37. JEREMIAH[4] (98), b. Feb. 3, 1715–16.

Children, by Judith:

38. ABIGAIL,[4] b. Sept. 17, 1717.
39. RACHEL,[4] b. Feb. 24, 1719.
40. SARAH,[4] b. Feb. 9, 1721–22.
41. ISAIAH[4] (105), b. July 29, 1724.
42. AMY,[4] b. July 15, 1726.
43. HANNAH,[4] b. Apr. 30, 1729.

44. JOSEPH[3] (16), son of Stephen[2] (Stephen[1]), born in Cambridge, Sept. 18, 1687; died in Wrentham, Oct. 22, 1736.

He lived a while at Attleboro, where he bought six acres of land of Lemuel Titus, lying by Squissitt hill; recorded April 1, 1713. Also from Samuel Titus, eight and one-quarter acres, lying on the right of Samuel Streeter's land, and adjoining High Squissett meadow and Benjamin Robinson's land; recorded April 1, 1713. He had also received from his brother Samuel, one and three-quarter acres, adjoining the aforesaid lot, and recorded the same day; likewise, he deeded from Jeremiah Ingraham, twelve acres near Squissett hill, near said Joseph's house; recorded March 5, 1715–16.

He married June 4, 1717, Elizabeth Titus, of Attleboro, who was made administratrix, and made return of a lengthy inventory on the Cumberland records, which seems to include a paper dated at Boston. The widow Elizabeth dates an inventory of personal estate, at Suffolk Co., Nov. 15, 1737, of £159. An inventory, signed by Daniel Peck and —— Walcott, Oct. 13, 1737, gives real and personal estate, £621:14:0. The Suffolk County records, Boston, April 12, 1748, allows widow Elizabeth £90 for the support of nine children, the youngest son born after his father's decease. The father is repeatedly mentioned as late of Wrentham, County of Suffolk, Mass.

A commission being fully authorized to divide and set off the estate, gives Elizabeth, the widow, one-third as dower; and the balance to eldest son Joseph, 2d son Benjamin, 3d son Enoch, 4th son Ebenezer, youngest son Nathan, eldest daughter Elizabeth, 2d daughter Abigail, 3d daughter Rebecca, and youngest daughter Ruth.

Children, born in Wrentham:

45. Elizabeth,[4] b. Sept. 12, 1718.
46. Joseph[4] (112), b. July 5, 1719; d. Aug. 8, 1778.
47. Abigail,[4] b. Sept. 23, 1723.
48. Benjamin[4] (120), b. Dec. 1, 1724.
49. Enoch[4] (127), b. June 9, 1726.
50. Rebecca,[4] b. Sept. 16, 1729.
51. Ebenezer[4] (137), b. Feb. 22, 1730–1.
52. Ruth,[4] b. ——; m. April 30, 1751, Benjamin Cummings.
53. Nathan,[4] b. Mar. 8, 1736, after his father's decease.

FOURTH GENERATION.

54. STEPHEN[4] (21), son of Samuel[3] (Stephen[2], Stephen[1]), baptized Sept. 4, 1698; lived in Framingham; thence removed to Douglass, Mass., where he died Sept. 22, 1756, yeoman.

Dec. 14, 1744, he, of Douglass, purchased from the Sutton committee, so called, 160 acres—the old farm—now abandoned. He married Catherine Adams; they covenanted together at church in Framingham, Feb. 7, 1725. There is a tradition among the descendants of the Rev. Zebulon Streeter (a son of this marriage), also by the descendants of Dr. John Streeter (another son), that the said Catherine was a sister to Deacon John Adams, the father of the second President of the United States.

The utmost care has been taken in searching for the possible truth of this belief; but nothing as yet has been discovered to confirm the said tradition, that Dea. John Adams ever had a sister Catherine.

Children, (seven born in Framingham):

55. ESTHER,[5] b. Jan. 13, 1724–5; m. Feb. 28, 1744, Josiah Haven, of Framingham. He d. deranged.

63. Naphtali,[5] b. Mar. 6, 1741, in Douglas. He deeds land in Royalston, Mass., 1764 and 1768.
64. Samuel, [5] b. Jan. 16, 1743, in Douglas.
65. Mary,[5] b. April 1, 1747; probably m. Mar. 16, 1779, Benjamin Green, of Spencer, Mass.

66. Samuel[4] (22), son of Samuel[3] (Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), baptized Jan. 7, 1699–1700, at Cambridge; died in Charlton, Mass., June 7, 1763. In May, 1742, he bought the place in Hopkinton, now occupied by Mr. Augustus Phipps, town clerk, and sold the same in 1745 to Thomas Butler. He was one of the organizers of the township of Charlton, to which place he removed about 1754 and died there.

He married July 27, 1719, Experience, daughter of Nathaniel Haven, born April 23, 1703. Her father was son of Richard Haven of Lynn, Mass., who came from the west of England to America about 1645, and settled on a farm in Lynn, near Flax pond. Samuel and his wife were members of the church at Framingham, where they covenanted May 14, 1721; and were dismissed from the church at Hopkinton to Sutton church in 1745.

March 27, 1754, the Governor and Council were petitioned by Samuel Streeter and others of West Oxford for the erection of a new township, on account of the distance from church, and other grievances.

The petition was granted, and at the first meeting held March 12, 1755, of the organization of Charlton township, Samuel Streeter was elected "Tythingman," and Samuel Streeter, Jr., one of the "Surveyors of Highways."

86. Hannah[5], b. Nov. 1, 1744.
87. Nathaniel[5] (226), b. Mar. 1, 1747.

88. James[4] (33), son of John[3] (Stephen[2], Stephen[1]), born in Attleboro, Mar. 26, 1707; baptized May 4, 1707, at Rehoboth; died at Cumberland, Mass., probably before 1760, as his son Jonathan, who made his will, Apr. 23 of that year, names his mother, brothers, and sisters, but not his father.

He married Aug. 8, 1734, at Rehoboth, Jemima Staples, who married (2) Dec. 11, 1764, at Cumberland, Samuel Tingley of Attleboro.

Children:

89. Esther,[5] b. Sept 2, 1735, in Attleboro; m. May 28, 1755, Enoch Streeter (No. 127).
90. Jonathan,[5] b. in Wrentham, Mass., Jan. 19, 1736–7; d. Dec. 1, 1760, unm. He made his will, Apr. 23, 1760. He was a soldier in the French war.
91. Jemima,[5] b. Apr. 25, 1739; d. at Chesterfield, N. H., 1776; m. Ebenezer Streeter (136).
92. James[5] (235), b. Jan. 16, 1741, in Cumberland, R. I.
93. Amos[5] (244), b. Sept. 24, 1744.
94. David[5].
95. Mary,[5] m. Nov. 4, 1779, John, son of Roger Brayler, of Cumberland.
96. Rachel,[5] b. Nov. 5, 1749.
97. John[5] (252), b. Aug. 16, 1751.

97*a*. Josiah[4] (36), son of John[3] (Stephen[2], Stephen[1]), born in Attleboro, Mass., Mar. 3, 1712–13; date and locality of decease unknown. Apr. 16, 1739, while of Attleboro, he sold land in Sturbridge, Mass., to David Morse of that town. Prior to 1747, he had removed to Cumberland, and Apr. 27 of that year, he and his family were warned by the town council, to obtain a certificate from the selectmen of Attleboro, whence he came, that they will at any time receive them should they become troublesome to the town; unless he produced this by May 23 next, they are to be conveyed out of the town by the Sergeant or Constable of Cumberland. Dec. 6, 1748, Josiah appeared before the council and plead for more time which was granted him until Mar. 31, 1749. June 5, 1749, the council again orders him with his family to be removed to Attleboro. Sept. 30 following, he requests permission to live in town upon the ten acres of land he had purchased, but not paid for, and permission is given provided that he will move away at the expiration of nine months, if so ordered. This is the last known of the matter—thanks to the leniency of the council. From the foregoing we may judge somewhat of the financial standing of the family; and that after the custom of those earlier times, the town acted carefully and purely in its own defence against the introduction of pauperism, and making the town liable for its support. Mr. Streeter married Nov. 2 ( ), Hannah May.

Children, born in (Attleboro).

97*b*. BENJAMIN[5] (147*a*), b. Dec. 5, 1737.

97*c*. JOSIAH,[5] b. Dec. 29, 1739. He was simultaneously in Chesterfield, N. H., with his bro. Benjamin, in 1770, and his name disappears from the records 1787. In June, 1776, his name appears on the list of those who signed the following Declaration, and gave oath that "We, the Subscribers, do hereby Solemnly engage and promise, that we will, to the utmost of our Power, at the Risque of our Lives and Fortunes, with Arms, oppose the Hostile Proceedings of the British Fleets and Armies against the United American Colonies." Sept. 26, 1774, he bought land in Chesterfield.

Although a resident of the town for several years, the records do not show that he was married, or whence he removed after 1787.

98. JEREMIAH[4] (37), son of John[3] (Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Attleboro, Feb. 3, 1715–16; died in Greenwich, Mass., before 1766; lived in Attleboro, Sturbridge and Greenwich.

May 7, 1739, he was resident of Sturbridge, when he bought land, afterwards acknowledged Nov. 20, 1748; also, Sept. 25, 1739, he deeds land in Sturbridge, acknowledged May 13, 1745. June 25, 1745, while of Sturbridge, he bought land in Quaben, described as a part of the new township No. 4, granted to a number of Narragansett soldiers. In 1749, he had removed to Quaben, now Greenwich. The aforesaid farm was bought of James Whitcomb, which passed to his wife Eunice, who afterwards sold it Nov. 15, 1784.

April 28, 1756, he bought land in New Salem, Mass.

He married at Sturbridge, April 28, 1742, Eunice, daughter of Elisha Rice, of Brookfield, Mass.

Children:

99. MARTHA,[5] b. April 9, 1743. April 7, 1787, she receives by deed of gift from her grandfather Elisha Rice, a tract of land in New Salem, Mass.

100. SARAH,[5] m. —— Benton.

101. REBECCA,[5] m. —— Stone.

102. RACHEL,[5] m. —— Hyde.

103. EUNICE,[5] m. —— Ainsworth.

104. JEREMIAH,[5] b. ———; adm. on his estate granted Feb. 6, 1792. Inventory, £293:13:11[d]. Samuel Pierce is appointed guardian of his minor children, and the court directs that the farm in New Salem be sold for their benefit. The records concerning him are meager. Nov. 15, 1782, he, then of New Salem, received from his grandfather Elisha Rice of Brookfield, a piece of land in New Salem. May 6, 1788, he is mentioned as a resident of Brookfield. Name of his wife unknown; she d. before 1792.

Children:

i. Ruth,[6] m. ——— Packard.

ii. Martha.[6]

Both children were cared for by their father's sister, Sarah, and are mentioned in the will of their grandmother Eunice. Feb. 24, 1787, the latter receives by deed of gift from her father Elisha Rice, land in New Salem, Mass., which he bought of Jeremiah Streeter.

105. Isaiah[4] (41), son of John[3] (Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Attleboro, July 29, 1724; died May 17, 1758. Having enlisted, as a soldier in the French war, he made his will April 19, 1756, in which he gives to wife Elizabeth, naming children Huldah, Jabez, Nathaniel, George, Rufus, and provides for a child yet unborn.

Inventory of estate, £722:0:0.

He married Jan. 3, 1747, at Cumberland, Elizabeth Barney, of Rehoboth.

Children, born in Cumberland:

106. Huldah,[5] b. Sept. 23, 1747; m. Apr. 30, 1765, Roger, son of William Sheldon, of Cumberland.

107. Jabez,[5] b. Feb. 24, 1748–9.

108. Nathaniel,[5] b. Aug. 23, 1751; d. Aug. 2, 1776.

109. George[5] (258), b. Mar. 21, 1752–3.

110. Rufus,[5] b. Feb. 21, 1754; d. Mar. 26, 1809; m. ———, Nancy, dau. of John Ballou, of Smithfield, R. I.; she d. Feb. 26, 1820.

Children:

i. Chloe,[6] m. Hosea Sprague.

ii. Rufus,[6] d. ———, of measles; unm.

iii. Rhoda.[6]

iv. Lydia,[6] m. Dec. 31, 1800, Davis F. Harris.

111. Bethany,[5] b. Oct. 25, 1756; d. in Cumberland, Feb. 22, 1808; m. Dec. 3, 1779, at Smithfield, R. I., Edward, son of Stephen Ballou and Mehitable (Cook), b. in Cumberland, R. I., Nov. 24, 1756; d. in Pelham, Mass., Feb. 22, 1833.

Children:

i. Mehitable,[6] b. Feb. 16, 1781; m. Dec. 26, 1802, Jabez Rhodes.
ii. Stephen,[6] b. May 11, 1783; m. Oct. 14, 1804, Alice Braley.
iii. Angelina,[6] b. Oct. 25, 1785; m. Aug. 18, 1808, John Lovett, jr.
iv. Lucy,[6] b. Dec. 25, 1787; m. abt. 1805, Nahum Cook.
v. Leonard,[6] b. Mar. 23, 1790; m. Sept. 27, 1810, Phoebe Trask.
vi. Elizabeth,[6] b. Nov. 11, 1792; m. ———, James M. Sheldon.
vii. Barney,[6] b. Nov. 11, 1792; d. July 17, 1793.
viii. Huldah,[6] b. July 22, 1795; m. Sept. 26, 1816, Alfred Peck.
ix. Silas,[6] b. March 6, 1798; m. Mar. 22, 1821, Sally Harlow.
x. Edward,[6] b. Aug. 13, 1801; m. Aug. 21, 1825, Olive Peck.

112. Lieut. Joseph[4] (46), son of Joseph[3] (Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Wrentham, Mass., July 5, 1719; died Aug. 8, 1778. He was of Cumberland, R. I., where he married March 4, 1752, Mary Inman of that place. He made his will Jan. 25, 1777, in which he names his mother Elizabeth, wife Mary, and children Nathan, Ebenezer, Eleazer, Bazeleel, Johnston, and his wife's daughter Deborah Inman, which indicates that his wife was a widow at the time of their marriage.

Inventory of his estate, £123:17:0.

His name appears upon a paper without date as a Lieutenant and reads, "Alarm list of the second company or train band under the command of Captain Lewis Tower of the town of Cumberland, R. I." This unquestionably referred to an organization of Revolutionary days, another paper mentioning his son Bazeleel under date of 1777.

Children, born in Cumberland:

113. NATHAN[5] (266), b. Oct. 18, 1752.
114. EBENEZER[5] (274), b. Feb. 3, 1754; d. Aug. 13, 1793.
115. REBECCA,[5] b. Mar. 8, 1756.
116. ELEAZER[5] (276), b. Nov. 1, 1757.

118. JOHNSTON[5] (288), b. Oct. 16, 1761.
119. ENOCH[5] (301), b. June 22, 1763.

120. BENJAMIN[4] (48), son of Joseph[3] (Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Wrentham, Mass., Dec. 1, 1724; died probably in Middleboro, Mass.

March 25, 1752, he deeds land in Cumberland to Ebenezer Streeter; this is all that is known of him with certainty.

His wife was Elizabeth.

Children, born in Cumberland:

121. CHLOE,[5] b. Jan. 18, 1747; d. June, 1752.
122. JOSEPH[5] (311), b. Apr. 27, 1748.

126. CHLOE,[5] b. Dec. 25, 1756, in " "

127. ENOCH[4] (49), son of Joseph[3] (Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Wrentham, Mass., June 9, 1726; died Sept. 18, 1797. After 1778, he removed to Amsden, Vt., where he bought a farm, adjoining that of James, father of Paul Streeter.

May 20, 1797, he and wife Esther were of Hinsdale, when they deed land, witnessed by Paul Streeter.

He married May 28, 1755, Esther (89), daughter of James Streeter and Jemima (Staples), born in Attleboro, Sept. 6, 1735; both of Cumberland, R. I. They were married about ten years before the birth of their first child.

Children:

128. Silas,[5] b. Dec. 10, 1766; d. same day.
129. Rebecca,[5] b. Apr. 22, 1768; m. Israel Johnson; no issue.

FIFTH GENERATION.

147*a*. BENJAMIN[5] (97*b*), son of Josiah[4] (John[3], Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Attleboro, Mass., Dec., 5, 1737; was of Chesterfield, N. H., 1770. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary war, and a private in the 8th Company, Captain Kimball Carlton, of Chesterfield, and Moses Nichols, Colonel; which company marched from Chesterfield, and fought at Bennington, Vt., Aug. 16, 1777. It is also stated by a grandson, that he participated in the Battle of Brandywine, at the time of General Burgoyne's surrender. May 2, 1781, he took the oath of allegiance, as applied to the Union of the two states government of New Hampshire and Vermont. But little more, if anything, is known of his personal history, except, as it is said, that he drew his war pension at Hartford, N. Y., whither he frequently went to get it, and it is believed he died there. The name of his wife is unknown.

Children:

147*b*. BENJAMIN[6] (348*a*), b. 1760-61; d. Mar. 1, 1835.

147*c*. ELIAB;[6] removed to Springville, N. Y.

147*f*. NATHANIEL.[6]

147*g*. THOMAS[6] (911*a*), b. 1772.

147*h*. POLLY,[9]

147*i*. LUCY.[6]

147*j*. A DAU.[6]

148. STEPHEN[5] (56), son of Stephen[4] (Samuel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Framingham, Mass., Feb. 14, 1726–7; died Jan. 8, 1812. His birth date on the town records is given Feb. 14, 1726; while in an old family Bible, left by his daughter Abigail, and now in possession of James Dexter Streeter of Shelburne Falls, Mass., the date is written Feb. 25, 1727, New Style. [The said James D. Streeter was son of James and Prudence, born in Rowe, Mass., Sept. 7, 1817]. "June 13, 1777, a committee was chosen to look after such persons as were suspected of being tories or enemies to the American cause, and in the discharge of their duties, Stephen Streeter and seven others were arrested and held for examination; but they were all found to be innocent, and were discharged." [History of Douglass.] Mr. Streeter married Mary Smith.

Children, born in Oxford, Mass.:

149. ABIGAIL,[6] b. Aug. 21, 1749; d. at Athol, Mass., June 10, 1838; m. ——— Harwood.
150. MOSES[6] (349), b. July 21, 1751; d. at Rowe, Feb. 26, 1815.
151. STEPHEN[6] (355), b. Aug. 18, 1753; d. at Chesterfield, N. H., Mar. 11, 1845, aged 92.
152. JACOB[6] (363), b. Dec. 18, 1755; d. at Oxford, 1839.
153. CATHERINE,[6] b. June 17, 1757; m. Jan. 16, 1792, Craft Davis.

157. ELIZABETH,[6] b. July 8, 1765; pub. Oct. 31, 1786, at Douglas, to Ebenezer Curtis.
158. ASA[6] (374), b. July 29, 1767; d. Dec. 31, 1838.
159. SAMUEL[6] (383), b. Nov. 30, 1773; d. Apr. 12, 1842.

160. JOHN[5] (Streator—59), son of Stephen[4] (Sam- uel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Framingham, Mass., Feb. 14, 1731-2; died at Hampton, N. Y., Aug. 24, 1810. He appears to have adopted a form in the spelling of his surname, different from all his family preceding him, viz., Streator, which style several of his descendants still retain. On the records handed down in his own family, his birthdate is given Feb. 16, 1732.

He was buried in the old graveyard on the hill above Hampton Corners, N. Y., and the following inscription is graven on his headstone, viz.:

"Dr. John Streator,
born 28 of Feb., 1732;
died 24 Aug., 1810."

It will be here noticed that another discrepancy occurs between the birth date above, and the other two preceding it.

Mr. Streator removed from Douglas, whither he had gone with his father's family, to Becket, Mass., where most of his children were born; thence to Hampton, Washington Co., N. Y., where he died.

By profession, he was a physician. He married (1), Apr. 16, 1757, Margaret, daughter of Isaac Hemingway, born in Woodstock, Conn., May 9, 1739, and died at Becket, Mass., Mar. 18, 1775. The Becket town records mention the publishment of "Dr. John Streeter of Becket, and Elizabeth Rowlee of London, July 6, 1777." The date of her decease is not found. Married (3), Hannah Walker of Becket. Her gravestone stands beside that of Dr. John's in the Hampton burial ground, bearing inscription of her name and decease, 1792.

Mr. John Streator was brother to the two well known ministers of the Universalist church of early New England, Zebulon and Adams Streeter.

Children:

161. Isaac Hemingway (Streator)[6] (396), b. Apr. 16, 1758, in Woodstock, Ct.

162. Margaret (Streator),[6] b. Nov. 5, 1759, in Woodstock, Ct.; m. July 12, 1786, John Messenger.

163. John (Streator)[6] (404), b. Nov. 19, 1761, in Woodstock, Ct.; d. July 10, 1813.

164. Nathan (Streeter)[6] (415), b. July 12, 1763, in Becket.

165. Alpheus (Streator)[6] (428), b. Apr. 22, 1765, in Becket; d. June 22, 1819.

166. Joab (Streeter)[6] (440), b. Feb. 7, 1767, in Becket.

167. Levi (Streator)[6] (453), b. Mar. 8, 1769, in Becket.

168. Daniel (Streator),[6] b. Apr. 22, 1771, in Becket; m. Sept. 28, 1800, Clarissa Budwell.

169. Elizabeth (Streator),[6] b. Mar. 31, 1773, in Becket; pub. Feb. 5, 1798, at Becket, to Jesse Wright, of Middlefield, Mass.

170. Mercy (Streator),[6] b. Jan., 1775; m. Stephen Topliff.

171. Lavinia (Streator),[6] b. May 8, 1781; m. Josiah Walker.

172. Hannah (Streator),[6] b. Dec. 11, 1785.

173. Lemuel (Streator),[6] b. Nov. 14, 1787; m. Chary French.

174. Elijah (Streeter),[6] b. Mar. 22, 1791.

175. Adams[5] (61), son of Stephen[4] (Samuel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Framingham, Mass., Dec. 31, 1735; removed with his father to Douglas; thence, prior to 1768, he settled at the South Gore, Oxford, where he officiated as a Universalist preacher for several years, during which time his labors seem to have been greatly appreciated and eminently successful, he being among the earliest in that new denominational field in this section of the country.

His decease was very sudden and unexpected, as before and up to that moment he had been in the enjoyment of excellent health. He had made an engagement to preach at Providence, R. I.; and on his way hither he stopped at Smithfield, where, Sept. 14, 1786, and without warning he met the messenger of death. Inventory of estate, Jan. 2, 1787; £11: 10: 0; widow allowed £10, to enable her to uphold life.

He married (1), Thankful ——; married (2), Dinah ——. First three children born in Douglass; remainder in Oxford.

He was the first pastor of the First Universalist church of Boston, Mass., where a famous relative, Sebastian Streeter, was afterwards for so long a period a distinguished pastor. Adams Streeter and his brother Zebulon were great lights in the early days of the Universalist faith.

Children, by Thankful:

176. Ebenezer[6] (462), b. Oct. 16, 1758; d. May 30, 1835.
177. Naphtali[6] (468), b. June 30, 1762.
178. Adam[6] (486), b. May 26, 1764; d. Apr. 22, 1834.
179. Nathaniel[6] (499), b. Feb. 24, 1768.
180. Ruth,[6] b Aug. 20, 1770.
181. Zeruiah,[6] b. Mar. 20, 1772.
182. William,[6] b. Oct. 26, 1773. There is no trace of a family by him, but circumstances seem to suggest his identity with a certain Capt. William Streeter, who, in May, 1826, commanded a canal boat, owned in Port Ann, Hampshire Co., N. Y., that navigated between Lake Champlain and Buffalo, via the Erie and Champlain canals.
183. Solomon,[6] b. Nov. 4, 1775.
184. Sarah,[6] b. July 19, 1777; m., 1793, James Calhoun, of Littleton, N. H.

185. Zebulon[5] (62), son of Stephen[4] (Samuel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Douglass, Mass., Mar. 24, 1739; removed to Surry, N. H., where he died Oct. 14, 1808.

Zebulon Streeter and his brother Adams were two of the great lights of the early Universalist church of New England.

He made his will Dec. 3, 1807, proved Oct. 26, 1808, in which he bequeaths to his wife Tabitha, his dwelling house, with the restriction that she will allow his youngest daughter Tabitha Streeter to have suitable privilege to dwell with her so long as she shall remain unmarried; also gives her two good cows, a yearling and calf, and all his household furniture; the Executor to provide for her every year during her natural life, eight stone of good pork, or other meat equivalent; four bushels of good wheat, four bushels of rye, ten bushels Indian corn, ten bushels of potatoes, two bushels of beets and carrots, seven pounds of good sheep's wool, twelve pounds of good flax, one dozen cabbage heads, four barrels of good cider, seven pounds sugar, and to keep for her two cows, one yearling and one calf, summer and winter during the term of her natural life, and to provide her a horse to ride at pleasure, and the privilege of apples to use and dry at her pleasure, also one-half of my honey bees; and that my Executor shall provide her sufficient fire during her life.

To his four sons, Benjamin, Daniel, Jesse and David, he gives all his neat stock, horses, sheep, and all his wearing apparel, excepting the cattle given to his wife. To daughter Tabitha he gives forty dollars, in one year after his decease, to be paid in money or household furniture; and forty dollars in three years after his decease, to be paid in neat stock.

To his grand daughter Lucy Hudson, forty dollars, within five years after his decease, in neat stock.

To son Jesse all his real and personal estate, which he has not bequeathed to any other person, and appoints him Executor.

William Perkins,

OLIVER PRESCOTT, J. Prob,"

The personal property as per inventory, $337.42.
Real Estate, 1,120.00.

He resided a few years in Oxford, and removed thence to Charlton, Mass., where his three eldest children were born; and between 1764 and 1769, he went to Rindge, N. H., where, as stated, he was living as late as 1801. If so, his residence in Townsend, Vt., prior to his decease, must have been quite brief, as he died that year.

In 1775 he sold a saw and grain mill in Rindge, which stood on the site of the present mill of O. D. Converse & Son. His name also appears on record as Sergeant on a muster roll of fifty-four men from Rindge, who went to Cambridge under Capt. Nathan Hale, at the time of the Lexington fight, April 19, 1775.

He married Sept. 15, 1757, at Oxford, Susanna Sloper, who, after her husband's decease, married (2), Isaac Wallis.

Children, three eldest born in Charlton, the rest in Rindge:

211. SUSANNA,[6] b. Aug. 29, 1759; m., 1778, at Charlton, Reuben Russell.

211*a*. JOHN[6] (573), b. Apr. 10, 1762; d. Mar. 1, 1811.

212. NATHANIEL[6] (586), b. July 7, 1764; d. 1831.

213. DANIEL[6] (591), b. Aug. 29, 1769.
214. JAMES[6] (597), b. Jan. 29, 1773.
215. PHEBE,[6] b. Aug. 21, 1780; m. Elipha Pierce.

216. JONATHAN[5] (76), son of Samuel[4] (Samuel,[3] Stephen[2], Stephen[1]), born in Hopkinton, July 2, 1741; married Abigail Vinton, of Dudley, Mass. He was then resident of Charlton.

Children, born in Charlton:

217. HANNAH,[6] b. Nov. 25, 1761; d. young.
217*a*. JOHN,[6] b. July 8, 1763.
218. HANNAH,[6] b. Mar. 15, 1765.
219. MARY,[6] b. Nov. 29, 1767.

May 18, 1778, Jonathan, of Charlton, sells land in the same place, and acknowledged his act and deed March 17, 1779; no further trace of him.

220. JOHN[5] (82), son of John[4] (John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Sturbridge, Mass., Oct. 20, 1738; died in Charlton, N. Y., Feb. 23, 1812; resided at Sturbridge, where he married Feb. 12, 1766, Kezia Morse; married (2), Anna ——.

March 5, 1788, John Streeter of New Cambridge, Washington Co., N. Y., deeds to Daniel Streeter of Plainfield, Mass., land lying in Hatfield. Enoch Streeter, witness. As the above said John disappears entirely from the vicinity of Sturbridge, it is reasonable to presume him to be identical from the fact that his sons John and Joshua had subsequently removed to the same place. This belief is furthermore confirmed by a a statement from his grandson, Mr. Nelson R. Streeter of Groton, N. Y., a son of William, that the latter was born in Cambridge, N. Y., and he had brothers John, Joshua and Josiah. Other authorities serve only to render the matter in a still clearer light. The date of John's birth as given by Nelson R. Streeter is Oct. 31, making a discrepancy of eleven days, perhaps on account of the difference between new and old style.

Child, by Kezia, born in Sturbridge:

221. JOHN[6] (603), b. April 18, 1768; d. abt. 1859–60.

Children, by Anna:

222. JOSHUA[6] (604), b. Sept. 26, 1774; d. Nov. 27, 1839.
223. ANNA,[6] b. Feb. 27, 1777.
224. JOSIAH.[6]
225. WILLIAM[6] (615), b. Jan. 6, 1788; d. Mar. 1, 1846.

226. NATHANIEL[5] (87), son of John[4] (John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Sturbridge, March 1, (another date says 12), 1747; no date of decease. The history of Warren Co., N. Y., refers to him as having been a soldier in the Revolutionary war, and once a resident of Salisbury, Mass., and that after his marriage he removed to Bolton, now Harrison, N. Y., and became a Baptist clergyman.

June 25, 1787, when of Deerfield, Mass., he buys land; and Feb. 25, 1791, he and wife Sarah sell the same; and, as a grandson relates he, in the winter or spring of 1799, removed to Warren Co., N. Y. He was a tax payer at Whitingham, Vt., 1782.

He married Aug. 9, 1777, Sarah Dix, said to have been "a member of the old Governor Dix family," born April 18, 1750.

Children:

227. MIRIAM[6] (627), b. Jan. 10, 1778, in Sturbridge, Mass.
228. JONATHAN[6] (637), b. March 4, 1780, " "

230. MOLLY,[6] b. Oct. 31, 1783, in Whitingham, Vt.

231. HANNAH,[6] b. Feb. 9, 1786, in Whitingham, Vt.
232. NATHANIEL[6] (651), b. May 4, 1788, in Deerfield, Mass.
233. ELIJAH,[6] b. Aug. 3, 1790, in Deerfield, Mass.; d. in inf.
234. ELIJAH,[6] b. Aug. 1, 1797; d. unm.

235. JAMES[5] (92), son of James[4] (John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, R. I., Jan. 16, 1741.

He was a grantee in Cumberland, Sept. 2, 1771. After this we find him in Vernon, Vt., when Feb. 14, 1804, he and wife Hannah deed to their son James, his farm in Hinsdale, N. H., and takes in return to himself a lease to improve the same, during the lifetime of himself and wife Hannah. The said farm adjoined in part to that of his brother Amos.

He married Oct. 21, 1764, Hannah Tower of Cumberland, R. I., daughter of John Tower and Hannah (Hancock), born Aug. 5, 1744.

Mr. David Jillson of Attleboro, in alluding to the centennial celebration in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Mrs. Hannah Sweetland, incidentally remarks that when she was nine years of age her parents, in 1791, removed to Vermont. During the interim, between that date and time of marriage, the births of his children are not found on record, but have been obtained incidentally through sources of correspondence.

Children, born in Cumberland:

235*a*. JONATHAN[6] (661), b. abt. 1766–7; d. 1791. Presumptive son of James.
236. JOHN,[6] d. unm.
237. JACOB,[6] settled in the Mohawk valley.
238. JAMES[6] (664), b. May 6, 1771.
239. LYDIA.[6]
240. ASA.[6]
241. PAUL[6] (678), b. Nov. 9, 1778; d. in Vernon, abt. 1855.

242. LUCRETIA,[6] m. ——— Johnson.

243. HANNAH,[6] b. Mar. 5, 1782; d. at Cumberland, Feb. 21, 1884, aged 101 yrs. 11 mos. 18 dys. She m., 1798, at the age of sixteen, Thomas Sweetland; and after a residence of 21 years at Vernon, Vt., removed to Woonsocket, R. I., where her husband died Apr. 12, 1861, and was buried at Arnold's Mills. She then subsequently went to live with her dau. Sarah, wife of Burrill Miller, at Cumberland, where she spent the residue of her days. It was on the occasion of her one hundredth birthday, that a family party of about one hundred persons assembled, to celebrate and perform the honors due to so rare an event. The aged matron was equal to the demands of the hour, and received with grace the many emulations of good will bestowed in her behalf.

She had in all 13 children, 25 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren, and 2 great great grandchildren. Her son Enoch, who was present, was 80 years old that day. Her daughters with whom she lived were 79 and 75 years of age respectively.

244. AMOS[5] (93), son of James[4] (John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, Sept. 24, 1744. It is stated that he and his wife eventually removed to some section of New York state, where they both died. Feb. 7, 1815, he was of Vernon, Vt., when he bought land in Bernardston, Mass., and May 26, 1815, we find him in Dover, Vt., where he sold land in said Bernardston, and we find no trace of him intermediately, or subsequent to those dates. It seems that none of his children are borne on the Cumberland records, and their names are obtained only through the medium of a granddaughter.

He was married at Cumberland, R. I., Sept. 9, 1764, to Deliverance Sheldon.

Children (probably born in Cumberland):

245. WILLIAM[6] (691), b. Mar. 9, 1766; d. in Cumberland, Oct. 9, 1826.

246. Amos[6], rem. to Hinsdale, N. H.; m. Cynthia Scott, and had several ch.
247. James,[6] m., and rem. to Fairfield, Herkimer Co., N. Y. Had two dans.
248. Nehemiah,[6] m., 1785, Cynthia, dau. of Warren Snow and Amy (Harvey), b. in Princeton, Jan. 21, 1768. She m. (2), —— Ryan; (3), Stephen Greenleaf, Esq.
249. Jesse[6] (249).
250. Jemima.[6]
251. Sally.[6]

252. John[5] (97), son of James[4] (John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, R. I., Aug. 16, 1751; removed first to Winchester, thence to Hinsdale, N. H., where he died Jan. 12, 1845 (g. s.).

April 10, 1787, he bought land in Hinsdale, and was yet there in 1796. He married (1), at Smithfield, R. I., April 30, 1771, Johanna, daughter of John Smith of Smithfield, born 1747 and died in Hinsdale, N. H., March 18, 1792, in her 46th year (g. s.); given Jane on the gravestone.

Married (2), Rebecca, probably daughter of Samuel and Rebecca Farr, of Chesterfield, N. H., born 1751 and died in Hinsdale, N. H., Aug. 14, 1839, aged 88 years (g. s.). No issue.

Children, by Johanna, born probably in R. I.:

253. Lyman[6] (707), b. abt. 1771; d. Mar. 1866, aged 94.
254. Isaiah[6] (718), b. 1773; d. in Hinsdale, N. H., July 7, 1821.
255. Elihu[6] (725), b. Apr. 3, 1775; d. Dec. 1, 1855.
256. Charles[6] (733), b. June 29, 1777; d. Jan. 29, 1854.
257. Caleb[6] (740), b. 1779; d. Dec. 28, 1860, aged 81.
257*a*. Lydia[6] (748), b. Mar. 5, 1781, at Winchester, N. H.; d. Oct., 1846.

258. George[5] (109), son of Isaiah[4] (John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, R. I., March 21, 1752–3; date of his decease is approximately given by an inventory of his estate taken at Smithfield, R. I., Nov. 19, 1808, whither he had removed, and where he and wife Rhoda deed land May 11, 1802.

He married Oct. 30, 1776 (1774, Gen. of Ballou family), at Smithfield, Rhoda Ballou. An unaccountable discrepancy exists upon the town records, between the above marriage and birth-dates of his two eldest children. The error must lie in the date of marriage, as the dates of birth appear to be regularly consecutive.

Rhoda, wife of George Streeter, was the unnatural daughter of Peter Ballou and Alice, widow of Jeremiah Mowry, who was daughter of Joseph Mowry and Alice (Whipple).

She had long been Peter's housekeeper, and expected to become his wife, but was disappointed through some breach of affection. But he acknowledged the child as his own and made her his principal heir, and gave her the family name of Ballou.

Children, (born in Smithfield):

259. Nathaniel[6] (755), b. July 3, 1775.
260. Anna,[6] b. Aug. 21, 1776.
261. Ballou[6] (762), b. Mar. 10, 1779; d. Oct. 22, 1809.
262. Amy,[6] b Dec. 23, 1780; m. Jan. 30, 1800, Jacob Wilkinson.
263. Olney[6] (765), b. abt. 1786; d. in Webster, Mass., Feb. 7, 1844, aged 57.
264. Pamelia,[6] b. June 18, 1787.
265. George W.,[6] (770), b. Aug. 13, 1793.

266. Nathan[5] (113), son of Joseph[4] (Joseph,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, R. I., Oct. 18, 1752; removed to Mendon, where, April 4, 1788, he and his wife Delphia, sold land to George Aldrich of same place. He was also a grantee of Mendon, Nov. 9, 1774, and Dec. 18, 1804.

He married Philadelphia, only daughter of Lord George Aldrich of Mendon, who was the original owner of the said township, it being then a territory six miles wide and ten miles long, covering portions of Milford, Uxbridge, Northbridge, Upton and Blackstone.

Children:

267. Polly.[6]
268. Sally.[6]
269. Aurilla.[6]
270. George,[6] d. in inf.

273. Aldrich[6]; no trace of descendants.

274. Ebenezer[5] (114), son of Joseph[4] (Joseph,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, R. I., Feb. 3, 1754; died in Mendon, Mass., August 13, 1793. Administration granted his widow Keziah. Inventory £431: 5: 1. Sept. 26, 1795, Naomi, daughter of Ebenezer and Keziah, fourteen years of age, is put under guardianship of Ezra Tucker of Chesterfield, N. H.

Oct. 15, 1798, Naomi and Jesse Streeter at Chesterfield acknowledge receipt of two-thirds of the late Ebenezer Streeter's personal estate, witnessed by Nehemiah Streeter.

Aug. 26, 1777, Ebenezer of Cumberland, R. I., buys land in Mendon, Mass. Aug. 23, 1780, he, then of Mendon, and wife Keziah, deed a tract of land in the same place.

March 9, 1786, he buys land lying in Milford, Mass.

March 26, 1792, he deeds land in Mendon from Moses and Mary Aldrich of Cumberland, R. I.

After the decease of her husband, widow Keziah removed to Chesterfield, where she bought land Sept. 26, 1794.

He married April 9, 1778, Keziah, daughter of Jonathan Mason of Mendon. She married (2), Ezra Tucker of Chesterfield.

278. Bazeleel[5] (117), afterwards changed to Barzillai, son of Joseph[4] (Joseph,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Cumberland, R. I., May 1, 1759. He was at North Adams in 1782, and Chesterfield, 1786; removed thence to Swanzey, N. H., where he died April 6, 1839.

His name appears in a Cumberland, R. I., paper called "A list of Lieut. Gould's Division—Lieut. Nathan C. Gould, Feb. 24, 1777." Also as "Barzzilla Streter Corpl." on roll of Col. Archibald Craig's regiment raised for the Continental service by the Colony of Rhode Island to serve for fifteen months ending with March 16, 1778. He is said to have served through the whole war and drew a pension to the end of his days.

He married Nancy Brown of Cumberland, R. I., born 1757, and died in Swanzey, N. H., July 22, 1847, aged 90. She was a most excellent and estimable woman.

The Chesterfield, N. H., records show him to have resided there from 1785 to 1795, about which time he removed to Hartford, N. Y.; thence to Vermont, after which but little is known of him. His family record, what little there is of it, was furnished through the joint efforts of Mrs. Hannah Wilkinson of Woonsocket, R. I., and his grandson Sebastian Streeter of Lovilia, Monroe Co., Iowa. He was a tailor. June 10, 1791, while of Cumberland, he bought of William Streeter of Chesterfield, land in that town.

Jan. 28, 1783, he and his brother Barzillai deed to their brother Ebenezer of Mendon, Mass., all interest in estate and dower of their grandmother Elizabeth.

What little is known of his personal and family history has been obtained from a grandson living in the town of Everest, Kansas. He probably removed from his native home in early life and settled in or near Lisbon, N. H., where it is known a portion of his family were located. His wife's name was Molly Cobb; date of marriage unknown.

Children:

328. JOEL[6].

SIXTH GENERATION.

348*a*. BENJAMIN[6] (147*b*), son of Benjamin[5] (Josiah,[4] John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born 1760–1; died in Chesterfield, N. H., March 1, 1835. "He lived on Streeter Hill, which is located in the northwestern part of the town, and is so named because it was at one time inhabited by several families of the name of Streeter. It is said that this hill was called Poplar Hill by the first settlers, because portions of it were covered with a vigorous growth of young poplars, which sprang up after the Indians had ceased their annual fires." (Hist. of Chesterfield.)

May 11, 1791, he buys land in Becket, and Aug. 30, 1794, he conveys land in that place.

Feb. 7, 1795, he and wife Naomi sell probably the residue of their estate, about which time he removed to Granville, N. Y.; thence, about 1799, to Hampton, N. Y., and then 1804, returned to Granville, where he spent the residue of his days.

He married, at Becket, Naomi Alderman, born Nov. 24, 1768; died July 29, 1846.

Children:

416. NATHAN,[7] b. Apr. 12, 1789, in Becket.

427. NAOMI,[7] b. Jan. 12, 1812, in Granville; m —— Taylor.

428. ALPHEUS[6] (Streater) (165), son of Dr. John[5] (Stephen,[4] Samuel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Becket, Mass., Apr. 22, 1765. In 1811, he, with his family, removed to Windham, Portage Co., O., then a wilderness, where he died, June 22, 1829. He was a farmer.

Dec. 10, 1787, he buys land in Becket, and Nov. 3, 1792, buys a tract in Sturbridge. In 1787, 1793 and 1799, he again buys land in Becket, and Jan. 2, 1801, he and his wife Anna sell a large estate there.

He was tax collector for Becket from 1797 to 1805. He married (1), at Becket, Dec. 15, 1796, Anna Lyman, who died at Windham, O., Mar. 13, 1813; married (2), at Windham, O., Oct. 16, 1816, widow Orilla Bonney, who died at Windham, Sept. 11, 1846. She had eight children by her first husband.

Children by Anna (born in Becket):

429. Polly[7] (Streator), b. Apr. 22, 1797. An apparent error exists on the Becket town records, in giving Polly's birth as 1784; also, the same discrepancy occurs in a communication from one of the descendants of Alpheus, wherein the births of all the children by the first marriage are given, the same as recorded in Becket, and may have been a copy therefrom. As the birth of Alpheus' second child was in 1798, it is safe to presume that her birth occurred somewhere between the date of marriage and the latter date of birth. We have no account of an earlier marriage. She married Aug. 12, 1812, John, son of John Streator jr., and Elizabeth (Kibbee), b. Sept. 21, 1786. (See No. 406.)

CORRECTION.

To the figures of reference forward in parenthesis, viz. (1186), at No. 531, add two hundred, making 1386, in the numerical arrangement.

Also, to 1295, in parenthesis at No. 533, add one hundred, making 1395 in the same numerical column forward.

After this add one hundred to every set of reference figures forward in parenthesis, as they occur, to correspond with the numerical arrangement.

542. Daniel[6] (202), son of Samuel[5] (Samuel,[4] Samuel,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Sturbridge, Mass., Oct. 22, 1756. He and his brother Samuel were among the original settlers of Plainfield, Mass., where he died Sept. 1, 1792.

Mar. 5, 1788, he, of Plainfield, bought land of John Streeter, of New Cambridge, Washington Co., N. Y., located in Hatfield, Mass.; Enoch Streeter, witness. He married at Sturbridge, Mass., May 6, 1783, Comfort (526), daughter of Comfort and Bethiah Streeter, born in Oxford, Mass., May 1, 1763. An apparent error exists on the Oxford records in giving the sex of the child Comfort, as a son; and at the same time it really appears quite incongruous to have it otherwise; but such seems to be the case that it should be daughter instead.

After Daniel's decease, she married (2), Vincent Curtis. She died Feb. 3, 1846, aged 82.

603. JOHN[6] (221), son of John[5] (John,[4] John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Sturbridge, Mass., Apr. 18, 1768; died in Chicago, Ill., about 1859-60. He married Feb. 10, 1795, at Sturbridge, Rebecca Fiske, and removed soon after to Salem, N. Y., where, about 1798, he, with his half brother Joshua, formed a copartnership in the saddle and harness business, in which, however, he continued but a few years, and once more resumed farming.

Mar. 12, 1798, he and his brother Joshua, saddlers, of Salem, N. Y., buy land there; and Apr. 2, 1805, the former with wife Rebecca, convey their proportion to said Joshua. It is said he had but one child, a daughter with whom he could not agree; she finally left to seek a more congenial home, since when, nothing more is known of her. After a few years' stay in Quincy he removed to Chicago, Ill., where he spent the residue of his life in the family of his adopted daughter, Mrs. Van Buskirk.

604. JOSHUA[6] (222), son of John[5] (John,[4] John,[3] Stephen,[2] Stephen[1]), born in Sturbridge, Sept. 26, 1774; died Nov. 27, 1839. A short time prior to 1798, he with his brother John removed to Salem, N. Y., where they engaged in business as saddlers, having leased a dwelling house and lot of land from George Schamp, also a saddler, Mar. 12, 1798; and the copartnership was formed July 26, of that year. After a lapse of time their connection in business ceased, John selling out his interest to one Robert McMurray; when, Feb. 14, 1805, it was again dissolved by Joshua going out, leaving McMurray to continue in the management of affairs.

In 1803, he was elected constable of Salem, and served in that capacity or as deputy sheriff until after 1816. In 1820, his name disappears from the highway roll, about which time he removed to Hartford, N. Y. May 2, 1801, he became a member of the Salem "North Star Lodge" of Masons.

In 1823, he went on a prospecting tour in Illinois; and after a year's absence, he finally located in or near Quincy, and returned for his family who, in the meantime, had taken up their abode in the town of Rome N. Y., and in the spring of 1825, removed them to their new and future home, where he pursued farming the rest of his days.

He married (1), probably at Cheshire, Mass., Adah Mason of that place, who died in Quincy, Ill., about 1827; married (2), about 1828-9,——, who died within two years, without issue; married (3), Mar. 13 1834, widow Delilah Ammon, née Smith, who survived him.

Of himself, Mr. Streeter says, that on account of ill health, he left the States in the fall of 1841 for South America, landing at Payta, Peru, in 1842, where he remained until March 7, 1843, when he set sail for California, landing at Monterey, May 10, 1843; spent the first year in the northwestern part of California, and finding the climate did not agree with him, he determined to return to Peru. But at that time the only means of procuring a passage was to go to the Sandwich Islands, and obtain one from there on a whale-ship. As it would necessitate a waste of six months time, before a vessel would sail for the Islands, he concluded to spend the time at Santa Barbara,

APPENDIX A.

The following pages comprise such families and names of persons whose identity is not fully established, but who are supposed to bear a relative affinity to the general name of Streeter, with some few exceptions, as given in the foregoing collation:

FIRST GENERATION.

1. Benjamin, or Ben Streeter,[1] born about 1760; was of Concord, Vt., simultaneously with another Benjamin Streeter, son of Zebulon, some few years before 1800. He had one child born there, 1789; then removed during that year to Hartford, N. Y., and before 1797, returned again to Concord, where his name appears on the tax book 1796, and several successive years.

Mrs. Phebe Fry, a daughter of David Streeter, of Concord, says that her uncle Benjamin Streeter, son of Zebulon, came to Concord in 1782. The other Benjamin or Ben, was a rover and suddenly left home and was gone several years before returning. Her father David said the two Benjamins were about tenth cousins, and that Ben was in the Revolutionary war and carried a buckshot in his leg, and had grains of powder in his face, of which he was quite proud. He served seven years and six months in the war under General

Washington, and subsequently drew a life pension. After 1803 he removed to Hartford, N. Y., where he died 1846, aged eighty-six.

Administration on his estate was granted his son Samuel at Sandy Hill, Washington Co., N. Y., by Luther Wait, Surrogate, Sept. 7, 1846. A duplicate of the original paper is in possession of the writer.

He married Alathea Morse.

Child:

THOMAS B. (Conant), b. Sept. 5, 1855.

APPENDIX C.

1. JONATHAN STREETER,[1] born about 1766; died in Pennsylvania, Aug. 20, 1826. After a prolonged research, and most careful inquiry through correspondence with his descendants, he still remains unidentified with the Stephen Streeter stock. There is no doubt however but that he is a lineal descendant of the said patriarch—the names of his parents having failed to appear in their consecutive order.

He married Hannah Barrett, born about 1776; died March 15, 1851.

It is said, by a correspondent, that he had a brother Josiah, and sisters, Elizabeth, who married —— Hanley, and Lucy Streeter, who were quite young when their parents died, and were brought up by their grandmother.
